Miss G: Tokyo

"The staff are incredibly friendly, helpful, and always happy to do what it takes for you to feel comfortable and ensure you enjoy your programme. It was a wonderful experience!"

Tokyo is the capital of Japan and home to 12 million+ people. It's vast! Don't think of it as a single city, but a constellation of cities that have grown together.

The main roads are clogged with cars, and first impression is of an urban nightmare, look further and you'll find tranquil backstreets, old world wooden houses with bonsai trees; hi-tech shops alongside charming fragments of the old city, timeless temples and shrines.

Central Tokyo, is awash with chic shopping streets, its financial centre and the major train station, plus enough bars and restaurants to last a lifetime.

Tokyo is composed of 23 wards, with a population of over 9 million people, and almost 15 million if the surrounding urban areas are included too! As such, it stands as one of the world's largest cities. Despite that, and the high cost of housing, it's regularly chosen as one of the most liveable cities worldwide.

Shinjuku is the entertainment heart of the city, bursting with restaurants, bars, nightclubs, and other places to have the time of your life! Shinjuku will leave you with memories you will never forget, and you'll see and meet some of the most interesting people in the world, just meters from where you have Japanese class each day.

Visitors to the city love to ...

Go old school

Book a trip to the Kabukiza theatre and experience traditional kabuki theatre, an incredibly stylised performance of dance and drama dating back to the Edo period, with actors heavily made up, wearing highly decorated costumes.

Go Anime/Manga mad!

Explore the Ghibli museum, a mecca for anime lovers. It is dedicated to the work of the world of master animator Miyazaki Hayao. Take a trip to Akihabara, the heart of gaming, manga and anime culture in Japan, home to electronics shops, maid cafes and anime stores, it's paradise for any otaku.

Relax in Shinjuku Gyoen

One of Tokyo's largest and most pleasant parks and one of the city's best cherry blossom viewing spots, each Spring.

Visit a buddhist temple

The Sensō-ji buddhist temple is a fantastic monument to Edo architecture and has an incense cauldron kept alight by a constant stream of visitors.

Eat Ramen

This is a delicious savoury noodle savoury soup. A staple dish of the Japanese cuisine, with so many varieties in both the noodles and the soup on offer, but do try the Tokyo soy sauce ramen.

Watch sport with the locals

Sumo: Attend one of the tournaments held in January, May and September and experience the world famous traditional sport of Japan. Sumo's Ryōgoku Kokugikan is worth a visit at any time, even if no events are taking place.

Baseball: Yakyū is huge in Japan and is a major spectator sport. Local teams are based in the Tokyo Dome, the Omiya Park Baseball Stadium and the Yokohama Stadium.

Shop till you drop

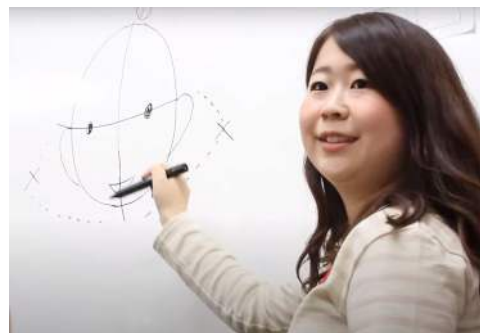

Explore the famous department stores of Tokyo including Isetan, Takashimaya and Keio. Alternatively get tempted by the latest fashions at Harajuku, see the crazy buildings and shop for luxuries at Ginza or check out the famous openair markets at Ameyoko.

Join the crowds on the Shibuya Crossing

Hundreds (to several thousands) of people cross at a time, coming from all directions at once. Join others on scramble crossing, which has to be seen to be believed and is probably one of the best known images of Tokyo, in the world.

Travel by train or subway

Get to know the city by public transport with prepaid rechargeable Suica and Pasmo cards (IC cards), they work on all city trains, subways and buses. You can purchase these from machines at any station.

The Tokyo School

The Japanese College is just a short walk from Shinjuku Station and overlooks the Hanazono Shrine. Despite being in the centre of the busiest part of Japan, the school's location is peaceful and relaxing, a perfect environment to learn Japanese language and culture. Catering for up to 60 students in any month, this is a small school offering a personal service. Ideal for adults and students looking to improve their Japanese communication skills.

Course format:

You will learn new grammar, sentence structures, words, kanji, and how to apply these concepts when you speak and get spoken to. Once you have learnt the new content in class, teachers will give you some homework to reinforce your new knowledge and make sure you really understood what was taught.

When you come to school the next day, your first session will be the output session. Here, you will apply the four language skills: speaking, listening, reading and writing this is where you will apply all of the grammar, new words, sentence structures, kanji and so on you learned the day before in real-world situations.

Teachers will pair you with classmates to practise conversation in fun roleplay situations. You'll work on listening exercises, read interesting articles not included in the textbooks, and even prepare a presentation for your class! Students benefit directly from this teaching style as they can use their new found skills when exploring the city and engaging with Japanese native speakers!

The school teaching staff teach ALL their classes in Japanese, whatever your current language level (English will only be used if absolutely necessary) so you get plenty of practice speaking in and listening to Japanese.

Tokyo:

Don't get too hung up on ticking tourist sights off your list: for most visitors, the biggest part of the Tokyo experience is just wandering around at random and absorbing the vibe, poking your head into shops selling weird and wonderful things, sampling restaurants where you can't recognize a single thing on the menu (or on your plate), and finding an unexpected oasis of calm in the tranquil grounds of a neighbourhood Shinto shrine. It's all surprisingly safe, and the locals will go to extraordinary lengths to help you if you just ask.

Shinjuku: Home to luxury hotels, giant camera stores, futuristic skyscrapers, hundreds of shops and restaurants.

Tokyo College:

Small college in a huge city ~ friendly, relaxed atmosphere ~ flexible range of short term course options to suit a range of personal & linguistic needs ~ excellent city centre location ~ good range of accommodation offered. You need to be independent and mature to live and study in this city.
